Types of Ration Books.—Two main types of General Ration Books are being issued. The ordinary General Ration Book is for use by all persons except the Heads of Households. General Ration Books with diagonal red bars on the covers are provided for the Heads of Households. The coupons in both books (pages 1 to 50) are similar. The only point of difference is that Householder's Folders (pages 51 to 53) are included in the General Ration Books issued to Heads of Households. This folder is provided for commodities which may be rationed on a household instead of on an individual basis.

Have you got the right Ration Book?—You should examine your ration book when you receive it to make sure that you have got the right one. If you are not the Head of a Household and have received a ration book with Householder's Counterfoils (pages 51 to 53), you should cut out the folder immediately along the line indicated on left-hand margin on page 51. You should then insert (in block letters) on the folder your name and full address and post the folder to the Department of Industry and Commerce, Griffith Barracks, Dublin.

If you are the Head of a Household and you receive a ration book not containing Householder's Folder (pages 51 to 53), you should write immediately to the Department of Industry and Commerce, Griffith Barracks, Dublin, for the folder, giving (in block letters) your name, full address and the serial number of your ration book.

Head of Household.—For rationing purposes, the Head of a Household means a person who holds or occupies a house or part of a house, whether separately valued or not, as his or her own dwelling and that of his or her household, including family, servants and guests (including paying guests and boarders).

The Head of a Household is not normally regarded as including any person residing in a ship, vessel, boat, hotel, club, hostel, boarding-school, residential educational establishment, religious institution, county home, public or private hospital, convalescent or nursing home, mental hospital, institutions for the blind, deaf and dumb or other residential charitable institutions,
